

Magic Moments. Long Night of Sciences in Jena

During the Long Night of Sciences, which takes place every two years in Jena, the doors of numerous scientific institutions and collections, laboratories and research departments will open from 18:00-24:00 to curious visitors who are interested in getting an insight into the manifold world of sciences. Researchers throughout Jena present their areas of expertise and deal with any kind of questions. The Leibniz-HKI is actively involved in this event, providing exciting experiments and guided tours of the institute to the “pilgrims of science”. We are looking forward to welcoming any non-scientists, scientists or future and previous scientists during the next Long Night of Sciences!
