

Staff members of the Leibniz-HKI offer numerous lectures, seminars and practical courses. The heads of the departments and research groups are usually also professors at the Friedrich Schiller University Jena and offer courses for students at the Friedrich Schiller University Jena and the Ernst Abbe University of Applied Sciences Jena. Students also have the opportunity to prepare their Bachelor's or Master's thesis at Leibniz-HKI. Open positions are advertised in our job portal. An internship or work as an assistant can be a good introduction to future research work. If you are interested, please contact the relevant university lecturer.
